VISION IS IMPORTANT TO THE QUALITY OF LIFE FOR PETS

Each year thousands of pets lose vision to genetically based or acquired eye disease. Hundreds of eye diseases with the potential to cause blindness afflict pet animals. Common causes include glaucoma, cataracts, retinal degeneration, immunological disorders, and trauma. Most eye diseases also have the potential to cause considerable pain and suffering, as well as significantly impact the quality of life for both pets and their owners. Successfully finding cures for animal eye diseases will require that we develop the resources necessary to substantially increase the funding available for animal eye research.

ABOUT THE FOUNDATION...

In 2001, with the support and sponsorship of the American College of Veterinary Ophthalmologists (ACVO), the ACVO Vision for Animals Foundation was established to support research leading to the elimination of ocular diseases causing vision loss and suffering in animals.

The ACVO Vision for Animals Foundation is a 501(c)(3) not-for-profit organization registered with the Internal Revenue Service. The Foundation is governed by a volunteer Board of Directors who are Diplomates of the American College of Veterinary Ophthalmologists. The foundation strives to realize its mission by funding animal eye disease research conducted by qualified animal health care professionals and research scientists.

HOW CAN YOU HELP?

The ACVO Vision for Animals Foundation is the only organization in existence dedicated to supporting animal eye disease research. The Foundation is funded exclusively through tax deductible donations from veterinary ophthalmologists, the American College of Veterinary Ophthalmologists, and members of the pet owning public.

Interested individuals please send donations to the Foundation attention Stacey Daniel.
